“Tochka Cuire” Festival to Present Dmitry Turkov’s Interactive Solo Show “Do You Have a Brain?”

On October 24 at 14:00, CSI “Byl” (Stary Oskol, Zhukova microdistrict 38, Red Hall) hosts the interactive solo show “Do You Have a Brain?” as part of the “Tochka Cuire” contemporary art festival — on the astonishing capabilities of the human brain and the price of scientific discovery. Devised and directed by Dmitry Turkov; on stage — actor Sergey Vasin. 16+.

ABOUT THE PRODUCTION

Disclaimer: all characters and events in this production are real. Any resemblance to actual people and circumstances is intentional. Warning: by purchasing a ticket you consent to take part in a scientific experiment. No dissection is planned.

Can you keep your balance using your tongue? Restore movement to a paralysed arm? Silence the pain in a limb that no longer exists? It sounds like science fiction. But behind every story are real studies, real patients, and rebel scientists once dismissed as freaks, madmen and dangerous heretics. Devised and directed by Dmitry Turkov, the show gathers scientific discoveries and human fates into a provocative theatrical experiment.

On stage — actor Sergey Vasin as an eccentric, Mephistophelian scientist. He turns the auditorium first into a laboratory, then into a jury room: running experiments, presenting evidence, and testing how easily a person can be made to believe the impossible — or to disbelieve what has already been proven.

The audience must decide: where scientific breakthrough ends and madness begins; whether a cruel experiment can be justified by the lives it saves; whether a damaged limb is always truly impaired — or whether the brain has simply grown too lazy to use it; and who, in fact, is running your brain while you’re certain you’re thinking for yourself.

You don’t have to believe us. We’ll test it right here.

ABOUT THE DIRECTOR

Dmitry Turkov is a theatre director who graduated from the acting faculty of the Novosibirsk Theatre Institute (2010) and the directing faculty of the Shchukin Theatre Institute, studio of Sergey Yashin (2015). He has worked at Perm Academic “Theatre-Theatre”, Arkhangelsk Youth Theatre and Chelyabinsk Chamber Theatre; served as artistic director of the Motygino Drama Theatre in Krasnoyarsk Krai — Russia’s only professional rural theatre — and as chief director of Prokopyevsk Drama Theatre. He has staged more than 30 productions across Russian theatres.

Dmitry Turkov has already directed for AELITA PRODUCTION — the sound drama “Gogol Suite”, based on the story by Nikolai Gogol.
