"Tochka Cuire" Festival to Present "Cagliostro" — a Story About a Wish That Brings No Happiness

On October 25 at 11:00, CSI "Byl" (Stary Oskol, Zhukova microdistrict 38, Blue Hall) hosts "Cagliostro" as part of the "Tochka Cuire" contemporary art festival. Directed and adapted by Andrey Solovyov, set and costume design by Svetlana Nikiforova. A production from the "Extracurricular Classics" cycle, 12+, running about an hour and a half.

ABOUT THE PRODUCTION

Young nobleman Alexey Alexeyevich lives alone on his estate, obsessed with the portrait of a distant relative — he only dreams that she might come to life and bring him happiness. One day the mysterious Count Cagliostro arrives at his house, together with his wife Maria and a strange servant, Margadon. Alexey persuades the count to grant his wish.

But the granted wish brings no happiness: the young man is already in love with the count's own wife. Where do reckless dreams lead, and how do dangerous experiments with love end — the production answers these questions. At the festival the show is presented under the short title "Cagliostro."
