Children Become Co-Authors of Art Objects: the “Tochka Cuire” Festival Hosts the Quest “Kids Aren’t Spectators”

As part of the children’s programme of the “Tochka Cuire” contemporary art festival (CSI “Byl”, Stary Oskol, Zhukova microdistrict 38), the interactive art quest “Kids Aren’t Spectators” invites young participants to “save” the festival from the fictional “Grey Screens” in 60 minutes. Free admission, 0+.

ABOUT THE QUEST

The contemporary art festival has been overrun by the “Grey Screens” — entities that steal colour and emotion. Children are not spectators here but a squad of superheroes ready for a rescue mission: they have just 60 minutes to reboot the art objects and bring back the joy.

It is a quest-story in which a child becomes a co-author of the art objects. Gather clues, get paint on your hands, switch on your imagination, and take control of the exhibition — the quest turns passive looking into active creation. The child is the leading artist of the programme.

Tired of art being “quiet and proper”? At this contemporary art festival, we allow noise.

Give yourself a break and your child a treat: while the kids are busy with art, adults can dive into the rest of the festival programme. Children’s workshops run alongside the quest.
