Journalist Alyona Bychkova to Give a Business-Programme Lecture at “Tochka Cuire” on Voice as an Instrument of Trust

As part of the business programme of the “Tochka Cuire” contemporary art festival (CSI “Byl”, Stary Oskol, Zhukova microdistrict 38), journalist Alyona Bychkova will give the lecture “Voice — An Invitation to Dialogue”, on how the sound of a voice decides whether a listener believes what is said. Free admission. Date and time to be announced.

ABOUT THE TALK

Your voice is an invitation to dialogue.

How do you sound so that a viewer on the other side of the screen, or in the hall, wants to trust you? How do you make your voice your greatest instrument of warmth? Alyona Bychkova will break down how to strip the metal and tension out of speech, where to find the low, calm notes that put a listener at ease, how simple pauses bring you closer to an audience than the loudest words — and why perfect diction can sometimes sound less honest than a little easy roughness.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Alyona Bychkova is a journalist with twenty years’ experience. Her career began on air at REN TV and has continued for more than 17 years with the “Rossiya-1” team, where Alyona is the face of the daily programme “Utro Rossii” (“Russia’s Morning”).

Behind the title of special correspondent lies more: Alyona is a born moderator and dialogue producer, able to turn complex subjects into living conversation. She hosts radio broadcasts for “Otkrytaya Studiia”, moderates major media forums such as “Berega”, and literary-reading competitions, and her own interviews range from politics to culture.

At “Tochka Cuire”, Alyona is a master of communication who knows how to hold an audience’s attention, ask the right question, and make even the most innovative performance resonate with a broad public. Her presence in the business programme is a bridge between stage and audience, between artist and society, built on honest journalism and the spoken word.
